A policy for inspection work orders was discussed. It was advised by Robert Garret during the Performance Management Review that we adopt a policy for placing inspection work orders into deferred work orders when necessary. Because of the number of work orders generated during inspections and the 30 day completion time, the deferred system can prevent findings.

The 100 Prospect St. façade study, Fish #083049, began November 6, 2019 and revealed serious deficiencies. There was a crack in the brickwork at the back corner of the building near employee parking which went into the concrete block wall. The contractor, Chapman, repaired this during the investigation. They also found that the cornice on the Union Street side of the building is badly deteriorated and pieces could potentially fall. Peter Egan has marked off the area beneath and around the cornice. Nancy and Molly Parris will work with DHCD to see if emergency funding can be provided.
